

Grace is not...	Grace is...
-merely one subject of many in Christianity	-the essence of the Christian life
-a "method" for holy living	-the holy life of Jesus that indwells the believer
-power for humans to keep the law	-the power of God working in the believer as he/she rests in Jesus
-limited to the forgiveness of sins	-the all-encompassing power for every single matter in the Christian life
-license to sin	-freedom from sin
-through Moses	-through Jesus
-added to our works	-God's work in us
-for the proud	-for the humble
-wages for our deeds	-the free gift of God
-the result of our commitment or faithfulness to God	-the result of God's commitment and faithfulness to us
-the result of us exercising our gifts and talents	-the means through which our gifts and talents are exercised
-limited in supply	-abounding toward us, so that we, always having all sufficiency in all things, may have an abundance for every good work.
-something you "hope" will be there	-exceedingly rich and abundant, without end
-something to come back to now and then	-what the heart should be established in
-unproductive	-fertile soil
-cheap	-free

A table I created for my blog (blog.graceroots.org).

<http://blog.graceroots.org/2007/06/grace-redone.html>

-Joel Brueseke